PERMITS FOR INTERSTATE BRIDGES TO AWAIT STUDY

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Congressman Wm. M. Colmer (D-Miss.) said that the applications of the State Highway Department for permits to construct Interstate Highway 10 bridges will be held in abeyance pending completion by the U. S. Army Engineer District at Mobile of an economic study to determine the bridge clearances necessary to meet the needs of transportation and industrial development of South Mississippi.

Reassurance that a comprehensive study covering all navigable streams in the three Coast counties would be undertaken came in a letter from Colonel R. C. Marshall in response to a protest from Colmer against the clearance specifications over the Escatawpa River, in Jackson County proposed in the Highway Department's latest application.

The Mississippi Congressmen said that he first expressed concern last fall lest the proposed bridges choke off waterway development of streams along the Gulf Coast. The first application submitted by the Mississippi State Highway Department called for twin fixed bridges over the Jordan River in Hancock County with a vertical clearance of only 10 feet and a horizontal clearance of 50 feet. In a letter to the District Engineer last November Colmer called those clearances "not only inadequate for the future, but not present usage."

Mr. Peter Benvenutti was named vice president; Mrs. M. J. Langford, secretary; and Mrs. W. E. Byrd, elected treasurer.

Mrs. C. C. McDonald Sr., past state PTA president, installed the new officers and the Rev. E. A. Lindsay, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, gave the invocation.

Principal Don Caldwell spoke to the group on scheduling classes for students for the coming year and Mrs. W. B. Little discussed a program of summer reading for students.

A letter of appreciation to Bay High faculty from parents of the schools PTA expressing their gratitude for the excellent teaching accomplished during the year in spite of the over-crowded classrooms and heavy teaching loads, was read.

Mr. Caldwell also told the group the school had been advised by the Science Research Association that Bay High had received a seventy-second percentile rank, which is considerably above the National average of 50% for schools throughout the country.

The standardized Iowa test of Educational Development is given each year to juniors in schools throughout the United States and each student receives his or her standard score with percentile rank, while the school is also given a percentile rank.

"Much damage would be done," he wrote, "to the future navigation hopes and plans for the Pascagoula River and its main tributaries forming the Pat Harrison Waterway District."

Colonel Marshall scheduled a hearing on December 1 at Bay St. Louis, and many protests and recommendations were presented by interested parties. As a consequence of this hearing and of renewed protests as additional applications were filed under the interstate highway program calling for very limited clearances, the comprehensive economic study was suspended.

"We can appreciate the cost and other problems of the highway people," Colmer said, "but we cannot allow the comfort and convenience of interstate motorists to throttle the economic development of all of southeast Mississippi."

The City to Advertise for Bids for Sewerage System

Mayor John A. Scafide said the city council will advertise for bids this week on the new sewerage system and water improvement system.

Bids are to be opened, the mayor added, at the city council meeting at 10 a.m. June 17.

The council has received official authorization from the Housing and Home Finance Administration to proceed with asking for bids on the work.

Plans and specifications on the water system improvement were submitted earlier this year, but there was a delay in approval of the sewerage system plans because of a minor deficiency in one area of the city.

The City was requested by the HHFA to revise their plans applying to some flow lines in the northeast part of the city regarding the rate of slope required to allow material to be carried adequately.

A $3 million bond issue authorized by the city's voters in March 1964, and a $155,970 grant from the public health service will provide funds for the project.

Shall the Hancock County School District of Hancock County, Mississippi, issue its bonds in the principal amount of Three Hundred Fifty Thousand Dollars ($350,000) to raise money for the purpose of erecting, repairing, equipping, and enlarging school buildings and related facilities, including the erection of six to eight (8) class rooms, combination auditorium and lunchroom, and related facilities, in including water, lighting, heating and sewerage facilities for the Pearlington School in said District, at an estimated cost of $132,000.00, or so much thereof as necessary.

Proponents of the voting rights bill have now introduced the third version of their proposal and it is no more acceptable than the first two. Although the outright repeal of the poll tax has been taken out of the bill, it directs the Attorney General to immediately bring suit to obtain a declaratory judgment to determine if the poll tax in state elections is constitutional. It is, in my judgment, just an attempt by Congress to influence the U. S. Supreme Court to declare the poll tax unconstitutional. It is just an indirect way of doing what Congress cannot do directly under the constitution and I believe an illegal one. I shall continue to oppose passage of the voting rights bill with all my strength because of these and the other provisions of the bill that are unconstitutional.

As to the Dominican Republic matter, it was very encouraging to me to see our country move so quickly to help suppress the attempt to establish a communist regime in a country so close to our shores. I think we must take whatever steps are necessary to prevent a Communist takeover there.

As Acting Chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee I have attended many briefings on the situation there and elsewhere. It is grave and very serious in the Dominican Republic. Among the rebel forces is an extreme Communist group which has come to the top and into power. Included in the group are some specially trained in guerrilla warfare of the most effective and severe type. I know that we will be criticized by many nations around the world for being too harsh and too quick, or for engaging in a diplomacy of power or of blood and iron. However, I am one of those who have believed for a long time that we are going to have to take stronger measures and act quickly in such matters if we are to be effective.

I shall follow developments very closely and give my support to a very firm policy of stopping the spread of Communism so close to our shores and do it with force if necessary.

A form of bid may be obtained from the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors, being the Clerk of the Chancery Court of Hancock County, Mississippi.

Said bids to be filed with the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors. The Board reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

FORESTRY NOTES

Timber conservation as the wise use of soil, water, forests, and wildlife and other resources. We want to use them so as to improve them. In our forests, we want to maintain a ground cover to conserve soil and to slow up water run-off so more water will soak into the ground. We want to provide a home for wildlife, and we want the forests to provide income for better living for the owner. To achieve this, the forests need a little care or what is called management.

Timber is as much a crop as cotton or corn and should be part of the farm plan. Good management practices that will improve the growing conditions in the farm woods should be included in the farm plan the same as plans to hoe and pick cotton crops.

For information on how to realize greater profits from your timber, contact Mississippi Forestry Commission Forest Arthur Verdel in Bay St. Louis.

The future holds the secret, and it's anyone's guess! He may be a great statesman some day . . . or maybe a world-renowned athlete or actor . . . or perhaps a scientist . . . but most likely, just Mr. Average.

Of course, a lot will depend on his opportunities, his God-given talents, his character, and his training.

Anything could go wrong along the way — poor health, bad examples set by his parents and associates, a broken home, neglect, and false values. But why make a list? The possibilities for this child's failure in life are so numerous that it makes us shudder — and the worst of it, we can guarantee him nothing. But we can give him hope and faith.

Standing ready and anxious to help him is the Church and the precepts which it teaches. It is our duty and our privilege to help spread the spiritual principles of Christian living in practice as well as in word so that the youth of our nation will find some meaning to the path of life which so strangely twists and turns toward some hoped-for goal.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

NASA News..

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. — A more powerful H-1 rocket engine for use in the first stage of the Saturn IB space vehicle successfully completed its formal flight qualification tests this week ahead of schedule.

Completion of the test series was announced jointly by NASA's Marshall Space Flight Center here, under whose technical direction the engine is being developed, and by Rocketdyne Division of North American Aviation, Inc., its manufacturer.

The new version of the H-1 produces 200,000 pounds of thrust. In a cluster of eight, it will produce 1.6 million pounds of thrust for the Saturn IB, compared to 1.5 million pounds produced by its predecessor, Saturn I. The two-stage Saturn IB vehicle is to launch Apollo astronauts on earth orbit training flights in preparation for flight to the moon and return.

Two engines, both produced and acceptance tested at Rocketdyne's Neosho, Mo., plant, were used for the qualification program. In 51 firings they operated successfully for 4,581 seconds — more than 75 minutes. In Saturn launching the H-1 will be required to operate for only about 150 seconds.

The test firings were supplemented by laboratory environmental and drainage contamination tests. The final tests of the series were completed a week early.

Delivery of more powerful H-1 engines began in June, 1964. The engine incorporates a more rugged stainless steel tubular wall thrust chamber, a redesigned turbopump for moving propellants to the combustion chamber and certain modifications to valves and high pressure ducting to provide for increased thrust.

H-1 engines, developing 188,000 pounds thrust each, have been used in eight consecutive successful launches of the Saturn I vehicle.

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. — Development of the NASA Saturn S-IVB upper stage passed another milestone this week (Wednesday) with the first loading of cryogenic (supercold) propellants into a flight-type stage at the Douglas Aircraft Test Center, Sacramento, Calif.

More than 100 tons of liquid hydrogen (at -423 degrees F) and liquid oxygen (at -297 degrees) were pumped into a flight weight model. It is to verify the design of the stage and fabrication techniques and to demonstrate operational.

The S-IVB stage, long and 12 feet in diameter, is being built by the Douglas Missile and Space Systems Division for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Marshall Space Flight Center here.

Technical significance of the test centered on the fact that the S-IVB carries more than twice as much propellant as the flight-proven Saturn S-IV stage, which Douglas also builds for NASA.

The test involved the greatest volume of liquid hydrogen — over 60,000 gallons, — ever loaded into a flight-type rocket stage, although Douglas Sacramento personnel have frequently handled such quantities of the fuel in test firings of the S-IVB "battleship" stage, a heavy stainless steel model of the space vehicle.

A full load of propellant was held in the stage for four hours during a series of test exercises and calibrations.

Although constructed like a flight stage, the facilities checkout stage used in this test has no engine.

This trial also was the first complete propellant loading exercise to be carried out on the recently-completed test stand No. 3 at the Sacramento center's test complex Beta, built especially for the S-IVB program.

In addition to proving out the S-IVB design, the test demonstrated operational readiness of the new stand's propellant handling systems, ground support equipment, and other facilities.

Performance of the various systems and the stage itself was monitored visually by closed-circuit TV, and through sensors connected to more than 300 instrumentation channels that delivered data to electronic recorders in the Beta complex blockhouse.

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has modified a contract held by the General Electric Co., Daytona Beach, Fla., to provide for the design of the electrical equipment for the Saturn vehicle launch support program.

The $40 million modification will cover the design portion of work to be involved in providing the electrical support equipment for Saturn IB and Saturn V launches.

Another modification to the contract, presently being negotiated, will provide for the actual fabrication, assembly and check-out of the equipment.

The equipment will be fabricated, assembled and checked out by G. E. at the NASA-Marshall Space Flight Center here, the agency responsible for Saturn development.

Part of the equipment, each set tailored to a specific mission, will be shipped to Cape Kennedy.

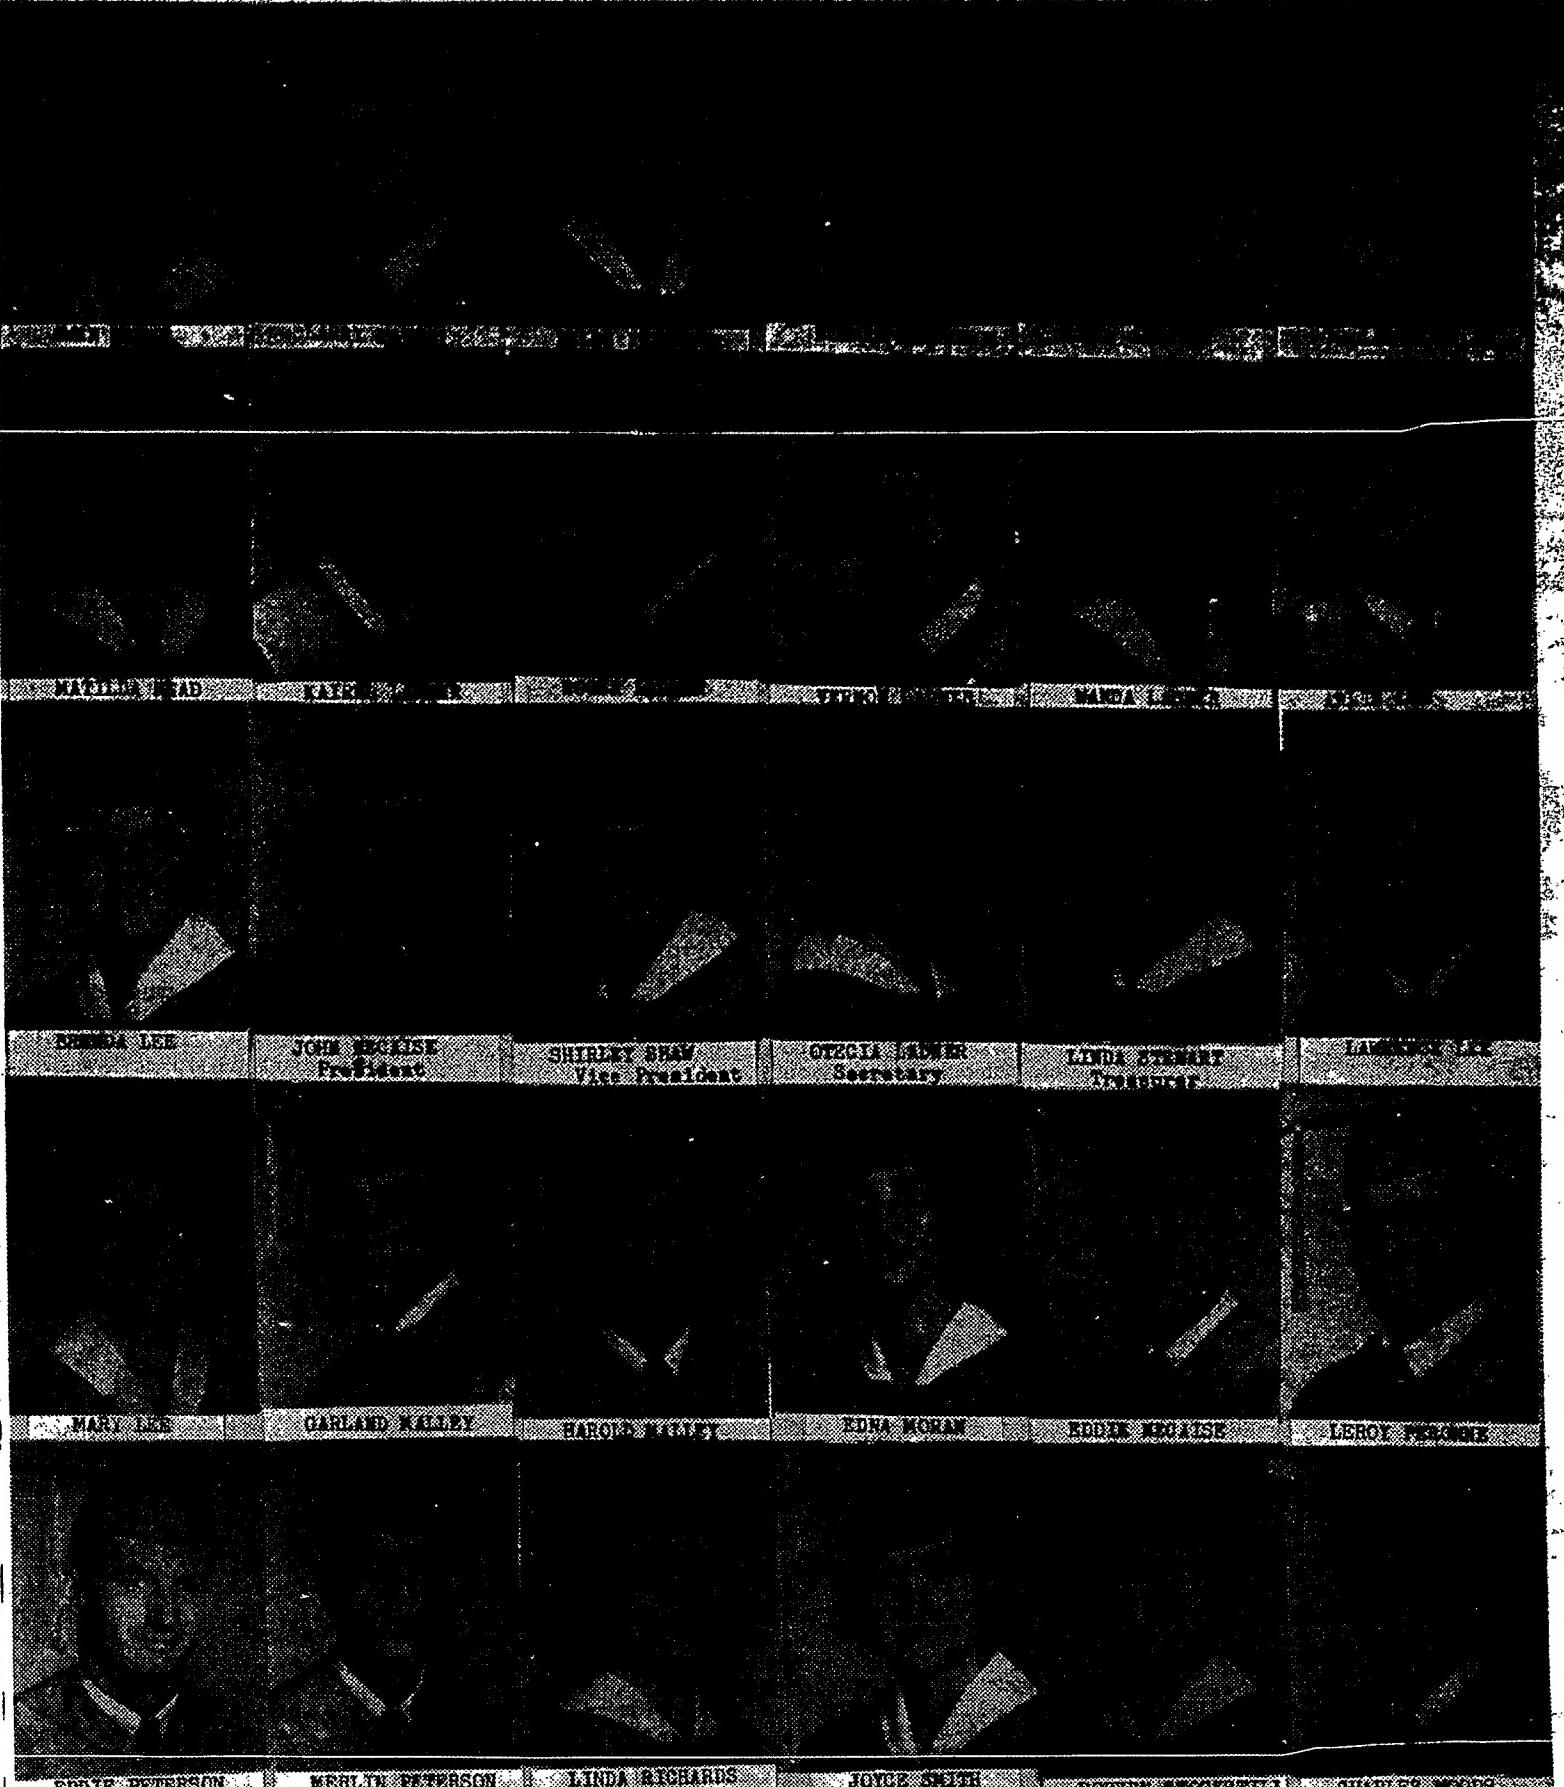

The equipment will have interfaces with vehicle stages and with ground facilities. Any changes in stages or facilities will require corresponding changes in the electrical support equipment.

Following a brief business session refreshments were served by the hostess.

COUNTY AGENT'S NOTES

O. O. SWORDS
County Agent

STATE HEALTH BOARD MEETINGS SLATED THROUGHOUT STATE

A complaint may be filed with the State Board of Health when an individual or a group feels that there is non-compliance with the Civil Rights Act in the state or county health department, according to Dr. A. L. Gray.

The State Health Officer said that one of the provisions of the Civil Rights Compliance Agreement, signed by the State Board of Health, is to acquaint the general public of the right to make a legitimate complaint.

Such complaints should be made to Dr. A. L. Gray, Executive Officer and Secretary of the State Board of Health, Box 1700, Jackson.

"Non-compliance complaints," said Dr. Gray, "must be filed in writing and signed by the complainant or complainants, giving full description of the alleged non-compliance and the name of the health department or public health employee involved."

Forms on which to file complaints are being printed now and will be available soon in all county health departments and in the State Board of Health offices.

Dr. Gray said that any complaint will be investigated as promptly as possible and if found to be justified, non-compliance will be discontinued immediately.

"In case the complainant is not satisfied with the findings in the investigation and the decision in regard to it, he will be given an opportunity of hearing before a Hearing Committee in the staff of the State Board of Health," explained the State Health Officer.

"The State Board of Health and the county health departments intend to comply with the Civil Rights Act," Dr. Gray stated.

Other methods of keeping cattle free from horn flies include getting them up and either dusting or spraying for control. Your local county agent has detailed printed information on controlling these and other pests. This material is free and yours for the asking.

When using any pesticide, be sure to read the label and follow all directions for using the material.

DAIRY NOTES

Here are some rules for controlling weed and feed flavors in milk. Maternal weed-free pastures feed strong flavored feeds like alfalfa after milking. Keep these feeds from cows at least four hours before milking.

When grass flavor is traceable in pasture, remove cows from grazing at least two hours before milking. Make the change from bare feeding to grazing gradually. Turn cows out for short periods at first (two hours daily) and remove them

"EASY WAY TO EDUCATION

Series E U. S. Savings Bond offer opportunities that many are not aware of. Here are a few examples —

Start buying a $100 Series "E" J. S. Savings Bond each month when your child is born and continue this for 4 years, or as long as you think your child will want to go to college. Have the Bonds issued to the child, naming one parent as beneficiary. When the child reaches 18 years of age and enters college he will have $145 per month for each year you have carried the program.

In a 4-year program you will invest $3,600, but your child will draw back $6,960 — or $3,360 more than you invested. This will be $940 in interest on each year's program, but since your child is permitted under the Internal Revenue Regulations to earn up to $900 each year there would be no tax due where he does not have other income. Yet the parent can still claim $600 exemption on the child. If you had this earning coming to you the chances are $340 or more of the $3,360 earned in interest would be paid in income taxes to the Federal Government.

This plan can be worked on the basis of 1/4, 1/2 or 3/4 of the amount shown above.

ANOTHER PLAN —

When your child is 6 months old start investing $18.75 per month in Series "E" U. S. Savings Bonds and keep it up until he is 18 years old. At that time your Bonds will be worth $5,490. Those who can afford to invest $37.50, the amount at age 18 would be $10,960.

A program could be started at a later age, but the amount at age 18 would be less.

is water used? What is a forest? What are grasslands? Why is wildlife important? How is one dependent upon the others? These are but a few of the questions that confront 4-H conservation members.

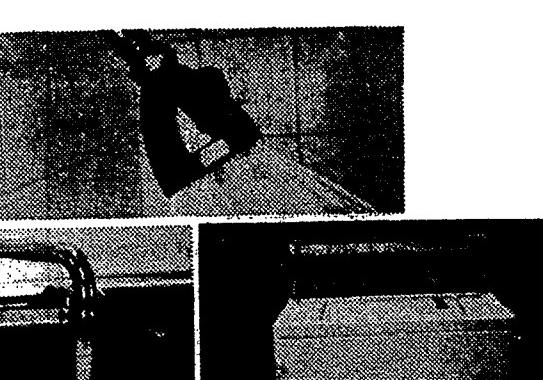

Finding the answers takes 4-H'ers through countless areas of scientific investigation and develops a new understanding and appreciation of nature.

Conservation projects often add value to the farmland, beauty to the countryside and better health and safety for the community. Individual projects vary from testing soil and planting trees to stem erosion to organizing bird walks or making an aquarium to study life above and below water.

How many ways

Whenever, wherever you need lots of hot water . . .

get it quick with a flameless quick-recovery electric water heater! *

Hot water is a lot like the air we breathe... we take it for granted except when it isn't there.

With a flameless electric quick-recovery water heater, you'll never run into this problem. Electric water heaters supply water faster than any other kind because one electric unit heats water at the bottom, another at the top. All electric water heaters are built to last. Modern laundry and dishwashing equipment require hotter water — up to 150 degrees. Only electric water heaters can provide this year after year, without shortening the life of the heater.

Tank-type or table-top, there are plenty of models from which to choose at your electric appliance dealers' or Mississippi Power Company office.

Installation of an electric water heater may qualify you for a wiring allowance and housepower panel.

Right now fishing is pretty good. Speckles are being caught out at the Keys and at the marshes with some being caught along the seawall and on both the R.R. and Highway bridges. Some soft and hard crabs are also being caught but they are not as plentiful as they should be but should get better soon, when the tide is right. Bass and perch are really beginning to hit on the fly and casting rods. Those fishing with worms, live and dead bait are getting their share. The water in most streams are clear most everywhere which accounts for fish being caught. Pearl River and territories, Jordan River, Wolf River, Rotten Bayou, White, Mulatto and Coward Bayous are producing their share of fish. For those who like lake fishing, Santee, Vicks, Oerves and Cut Off lakes are swell places to fish for fresh water fish. There are plenty of places to go and you are never crowded.

Among these catching speckles was Gee Wedemeyer who caught 100 by himself last Thursday at Half Moon, Gee said he was using a Shad Rig and was catching 2 at a time. They were really tearing it up he said. Gee goes out regularly and usually gets his share.

Coach Billie Murphy of St. Stanislaus with Herbert Hanson and son caught about 50 large specks last week at Telegraph Key. They were out only a couple of hours said Billie and the fish were all nice size. Coach will be in charge of the summer camp at the College and is a busy man right now.

Trevor Whayne, Employment Representative with Rocketdyne North American Aviation at Waco, Texas, was here last week. Whayne said he does a lot of fishing when home and hopes to do a little while in our section.

James A. Clemy who owns a home near Lyman's lake expects to do a lot of fishing from now on. He is retired and said he will put his time to good use. He will after them quite often.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hanlon who reside at Bayside Park are ardent fishermen. They love fishing and other sports and usually catch their share of fish. Luckily, they live on the fringe of the Par-3 golf course at Bayside and get all the exercise they need.

Bill Witter will be over for a week and expects to get his share of specks. Of course his boat will be with him. Bill is a former resident and knowns where to get them.

Was a pleasure to see and talk to Hank Evans who was injured when he crashed in his plane recently. He said he is mending O.K. and expects to be his old self again soon. Good news, Hank.

Arky Glover and yours truly had a good round of golf Sunday. Arky loves the game and expects to play more often from now on. He shot a good game after a lay off and should get better.

The Saturday night steak supper May 8 at the Pass Christian Isles Golf Club drew a large crowd. The food was good and a pleasant

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT

HIGHLIGHTS CITED FOR 1965 FEED GRAIN PROGRAM

Final reports on the 1965 feed grain program signup confirm a new record in numbers of enrolled farms, intended acreage diversion, and amount of feed grain base acreage on signed farms, according to Tommy R. Shaw, Chairman of the Hancock Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee.

Throughout the Nation, signup totals for the program show about 1,482,222 farms enrolled, 36,722,900 acres for diversion and base acreage of 67,024,400 acres on signed farms.

In Hancock County, 140 farms are enrolled in the 1965 feed grain program, 1812 acres are to be diverted, and acreages on signed farms total 2165 acres. Of the agreed total diversion, 1812 acres are from corn base acreage.

The chairman pointed out that participating in the feed grain program is voluntary. If producers carry out program provisions as signed up, they qualify for acreage diversion payments, price support loans and price support payments. Substitution of feed grain for wheat is possible, but the extent to which the substitution provision is used won't be known until program performance is checked prior to harvest this summer and fall.

If farmers keep their intentions of diverting 36.7 million acres, production of around 2 billion bushels of feed grains will have been averted, and carry over stocks could be further reduced by the end of the 1965-66 marketing year.

Peak end-of-marketing year feed grain carryover for 1960-61, was 3,188 million bushels. At the end of the current 1964-65 marketing year, the estimated carryover is 2,145 million bushels, a reduction of more than a billion bushels, or more than one-third. The 1965 program should result in additional reduction in feed grain stocks, officials have said.

Seventy percent of the agreed feed grain acreages diversion for 1965 is in 11 States. Each has upwards of 1 million acres for diversion.

States which lead in production of feed grains, and where grain is a major source of income, have the highest percentage of feed grain base acreage on enrolled farms. Participating farms in these 11 States have about 75 percent of the acres signed to be diverted.
